Daniel Hedin

Title: Implementation of dynamic information flow for full JavaScript.

Abstract:
Tracking information flow in dynamic languages remains an important and intricate problem. We discuss the implementation of a dynamic information flow monitor for full JavaScript. The implementation has been done in JavaScript, enabling us to replace the JavaScript engine of Firefox using a modified version of the Zaphod plugin or to embed the monitor as part of the source of the webpage.